It is easy to start and almost doesn't cost a penny. All you need to do is to create an eCommerce store, list the top trending dropshipping products on the store, and voila! You have your own dropshipping eCommerce store. Now all you would need to do is, promote the store on social media and search engines for maximum traction.

Now if that isn't easy, what is?

Now, all this said and done, the success of a dropshipping store largely depends on the selection of the most trending dropshipping products; and the niche you choose determines how well you have conducted your dropshipping product research. Apart from the fact that you need to improve your SEO on your dropshipping store, the first and foremost way to ensure dropshipping success is to choose the right products. There are many ways to get to successful and profitable dropshipping product ideas. In this article here, we are going to talk about the best dropshipping products to sell this year.

But first, we are going to touch upon why we think dropshipping is a great business model for entrepreneurs – both small and big. We will also talk about how dropshipping works and will drop in some marketing tips that'll help you to get more sales in your dropshipping business.

How does Dropshipping work?

In layman's terms, dropshipping is an eCommerce business model, which enables entrepreneurs to run a business without worrying about stocking or any of the logistics processes. When there is a sale on a dropshipping store, all an entrepreneur needs to do is to alert the supplier who will then ship the products directly to the customer.

The dropshipper doesn't need to worry about things like packaging and/or shipping their products. They only need to focus on making more sales, and growing their business. By this way, the dropshipping business becomes a more streamlined and straightforward process. A dropshipper can also easily test out brand new products, like the ones that we've listed in this article, with minimal or no risk at all.

When you are a dropshipper, you can have more time to add or remove products, try new marketing campaigns, and do a lot more with your dropshipping store. As you don't have to do a lot of things that you would in a traditional ecommerce business – like purchasing your products in advance, waiting for them to be shipped to you, and then finding a place to store them until they sell – you have more spare time to spend for polishing your marketing and perfecting your product portfolio.

When you are a dropshipper, you can have more time to add or remove products, try new marketing campaigns, and do a lot more with your dropshipping store.

In the light of all these benefits, it can be said without a doubt that dropshipping is a fantastic business model for those entrepreneurs who want to start their business with minimal risk or investment.

How to find trending best dropshipping products?

When we talk about trending products for dropshipping, there are plenty of resources available online which you can refer to.

You can easily refer to these websites to find the best dropshipping products to sell:

- Thieve
- Product Mafia
- Repick
- Pexda
- Angage
- Facebook groups like Product Research Lab, Best Dropshipping products and Shopify Dropshipping
- All these online resources provide the details that a dropshipper needs to choose the right products and market them successfully. Most of these websites also have their Facebook groups and forums where dropshippers can discuss the results of their product campaigns.

Some other sources for finding out good dropshipping products to sell are:

- Product stats available on Oberlo
- Google Trends
- Social media channels like Instagram and Facebook
- The 'Hot Products' section of China-based online retailer AliExpress – shows you, which products are in high demand.
- Amazon 'Best Sellers' – displays the most popular products, based on sales, for every niche.
- 'Trending' on eBay – shows you the top 10 products that users are searching for the most.

Oberlo's product statistics highlight products which are a success with other Dropshippers.

Google Trends will let you know how many people are searching for specific products on Google. It is also a great tool to find historical search data and projections for future search traffic.

Instagram and Facebook are proverbial goldmines for product research. You can search for product names and check if there are any videos (viral) featuring them, or communities based around them. Positive reactions and engagements from people are a good indicator that the product is doing well.

What kind of dropshipping products sell more?

Successful dropshipping is a combination of buying power, trends, and impulse buying.

Some say that if you are able to showcase your product well, it will sell; while some others say that you need to keep the Ad attractive and prices low.

Some of the best dropshipping products to sell would ideally fall into one (or all) of the following categories:

- Products that are less than $10 and look attractive and/or useful for the prospective customer. Examples include dropshipping baby products, such as stuffed toys, baby wrap blankets, Baby Hip seat, cute baby dresses and other apparel, baby glove teethingers or pacifiers etc.
- Products that are rare to find, or won't usually be found on Amazon.
- Products that are useful. Even if the price is a little high, if the products are useful, and you are able to demonstrate its utility through product videos, then people will buy them.

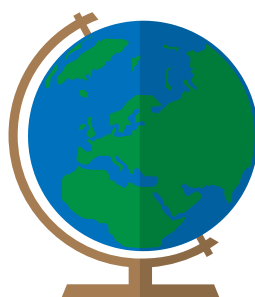

Niche or Trends – Which one to choose?

Use both.

I know a lot of people won't agree to this argument, but the truth is there is never going to be a straightforward answer to this one. What dropshipping products to sell depends on a lot of factors like your target market's geographical location, demographics, well targeted marketing strategies, competition etc.

Sometimes staying on top of trends can be exhausting. Also for beginners and first-time entrepreneurs, the best way is to go with a niche. But don't go too deep. If you add all products on your store from a specific niche and if the niche doesn't do well on social media, then the whole effort will go to waste. Also remember that even when you have chosen a niche, it will take a great deal of research to find the products that will ultimately build a profitable business. Although I will be providing you with a list of best dropshipping products to sell this year, it may not necessarily be your long-term roadmap to success.

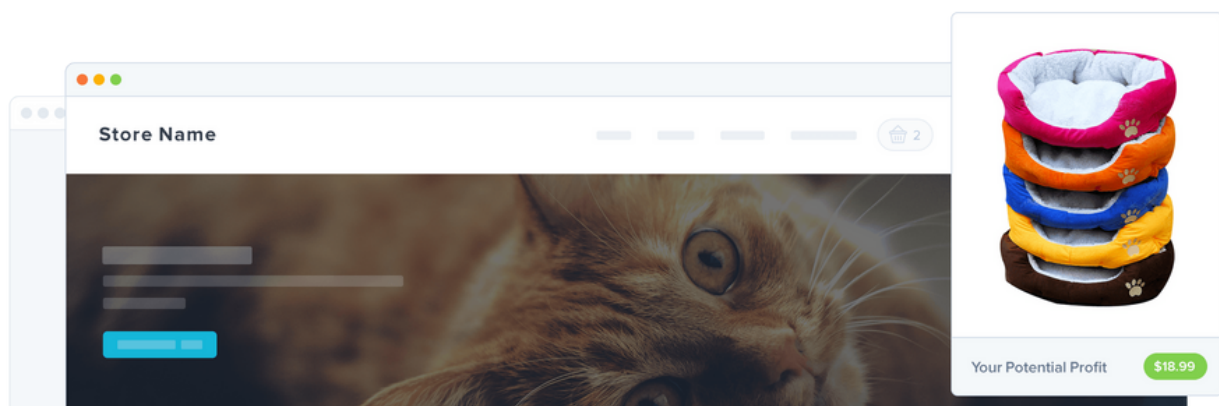

And another approach however is to include products that ride the wave of trending items, and the ones which will maximise profits at any given time. But for this to happen, you'll need to constantly keep on top of market trends and data. You should also be open to expand your repertoire to offer promising new products in this approach.

Above all else, your focus should be on selling products that solve a problem, and once you do that you'll find an audience regardless of niche or trends
